Dr. Steven Squillace (right) participated in Vision Expo 2018, an event for Ophthalmic Professionals, held at the Javits Center in New York, NY, on March 17. He demonstrated the Easy Scan retinal imaging device, which provides high-quality retinal imaging without dilating drops. The device is manufactured by i-Optics in The Hague, Netherlands. Dr. Squillace was the first optometrist to import the EasyScan system to North America in 2012. Because of his extensive experience with this device, i-Optics invites him to attend Vision Expo and answer eye doctors' questions. He is pictured here with Erik Van Dijk, CEO of i-Optics.
